TO	Marvel's Techworks — Website Development Team
CLIENT / BRAND	AZIZURRAHMAN (■■■■ ■■■■■■)
PROJECT	Design, development, testing, and launch of a responsive website with online appointment booking
BRAND ASSET	Use the client-provided AZIZURRAHMAN logo as the primary brand identity
DATE / REFERENCE	Date: _____ Project Ref.: _____

Subject: Request for proposal and development of the AZIZURRAHMAN official website

Dear Marvel's Techworks Team,

Please prepare a detailed quotation and implementation plan for the design, development, testing, and deployment of an official website for AZIZURRAHMAN. The website will present his approved profile and spiritual services and must allow visitors to request appointments online. The website must be mobile-first, secure, easy to navigate, and consistent with the logo supplied by the client.

1. Brand and visual requirements

- Use the supplied AZIZURRAHMAN logo, including its Arabic and English name, without altering the spelling or design unless written approval is obtained.
- Use an emerald-green, gold, ivory/white palette, with restrained saffron-white-green accents inspired by the logo.
- Use tasteful Islamic geometric motifs, readable typography, accessible contrast, and a clean layout that works on phones, tablets, and desktops.
- Create a matching website favicon and suitable logo sizing for header and footer.

2. Required website pages

- Home: welcome section, approved logo, brief introduction, service overview, and prominent "Book an Appointment" and WhatsApp/contact actions.
- About Azizurrahman: biography, religious education, qualifications, experience, languages, and other details only as approved by the client.
- Services: approved descriptions of Quranic Dua and supplications, Taweez-related services, Quranic guidance, and spiritual consultation.
- Book an Appointment: appointment request form and booking instructions (requirements in Section 3).
- Contact & Location: verified phone/WhatsApp, email if supplied, full address supplied by the client, visiting hours, and an optional map/directions link.
- Optional pages: articles or educational guidance, FAQs, Privacy Policy, Terms of Use, and cancellation/refund policy if applicable.

3. Appointment booking system — required

- Provide a visible booking button in the website header and on the Home, Services, and Contact pages.
- Allow visitors to select a service or consultation type, preferred date, and available time slot.
- Collect only necessary booking details: name, preferred contact method, phone/email as needed, and a short optional message.
- Show the appointment request status clearly: submitted, confirmed, reschedule requested, or cancelled.
- Send an on-screen confirmation and, where configured, email/WhatsApp confirmation or notification. Clearly identify any third-party messaging charges or integrations.
- Provide an admin view to review requests, confirm or decline bookings, manage available dates/times, block unavailable periods, and update or cancel appointments.
- Prevent double-booking of the same slot, include a simple cancellation/rescheduling process, and display the appointment time zone.

- State clearly whether a booking is only a request or is confirmed automatically. Do not represent a request as confirmed until the agreed confirmation process is completed.
- Include spam protection and secure handling of booking information. Do not ask users to disclose sensitive medical, financial, or family information in the booking form.

4. Contact details and address

The client will provide and approve the exact public-facing address and contact details before launch. Marvel's Techworks must include editable fields for the following information and must not invent or publish unverified details:

Public address	_____ _____
Phone / WhatsApp	_____
Email address	_____
Consultation hours	_____

- If requested, add a map embed or a "Get Directions" link based on the verified address and obtain the client's approval before publishing it.

5. Technical and administrative requirements

- Responsive design, current-browser compatibility, basic accessibility, and reasonable page-loading performance.
- HTTPS/SSL, secure forms, spam protection, regular backups, and basic security configuration.
- Basic SEO: page titles, meta descriptions, clean URLs, sitemap, and search-engine indexing setup.
- Admin access to update page text, services, contact details, appointment availability, and booking status; specify whether a CMS or custom dashboard is included.
- Test all forms, links, booking flows, confirmation messages, mobile layouts, and admin functions before launch.
- Use analytics only if requested, with appropriate privacy disclosures.

6. Content, accuracy, and privacy

- The client must approve all profile details, qualifications, service descriptions, religious content, translations, testimonials, and contact information before publication.
- Do not publish fabricated credentials, reviews, guaranteed supernatural results, or guaranteed cures.
- Collect only the personal information needed to handle enquiries and appointments, and restrict access to booking data to authorized users.
- Provide a privacy notice explaining what information is collected and how it is used. Confirm any legal or compliance requirements relevant to the final implementation.

7. Deliverables and handover

- Approved desktop and mobile website, all agreed pages, and the appointment booking workflow.
- Configured contact actions and the agreed appointment notifications/integrations.
- Administrator credentials and a brief handover guide.
- Domain and hosting setup only as specified in the approved quotation; the client's ownership and account access must be documented.
- Source-code and website-content ownership, transfer of assets, and access credentials as stated in the written agreement.
- Pre-launch testing, agreed defect correction, backup/restore arrangements, warranty period, and post-launch support terms.

8. Quotation and schedule requested

- Provide an itemized price for design, website development, appointment booking, admin functions, optional multilingual pages, and any optional future features.
- Specify project milestones and estimated delivery dates: design approval, development, content entry, testing, and launch.
- List all recurring and third-party charges separately, including domain, hosting, email, booking software, SMS/WhatsApp integrations, payment gateway (if any), and maintenance.
- State payment milestones, included revision rounds, acceptance criteria, exclusions, client dependencies, and support response times.
- Do not begin chargeable work until the client approves the final scope, quotation, schedule, and terms in writing.

9. Client inputs required before launch

- Final public address, verified phone/WhatsApp number, email, consultation hours, and preferred appointment duration.
- Approved biography, service descriptions, qualifications, images, languages, and translations.
- Booking rules: appointment types, available days/times, advance notice, cancellation/rescheduling policy, and whether appointments require manual confirmation.
- Domain preference and confirmation of ownership for domain, hosting, email, and third-party accounts.

Approval

Please return the itemized quotation and proposed delivery schedule for review. This letter is a project brief and proposed development order; it becomes binding only when the parties approve and sign the final scope, commercial terms, and agreement.
